

D I R E C T O R

JOE OTTING

An expert storyteller with a keen cinematic style. Joe Otting's visual style breathes beauty and texture into the everyday world. He began his career at BBDO and launched an award-winning directing career that has spanned over two decades. With success in both film and advertising, he has the unique ability to create entertaining and cinematic content across various media formats. His film roots run deep from his time helming features for HBO, Sony, and Showtime. Propelled by this success, Joe is always working on his next idea. Be it long form branded content or captivating commercial spots, Joe's your guy.