

D I R E C T O R

TIM MASON

Tim Mason is a writer/director/actor originally from Kansas City, Missouri. Not Kansas. He is not from Kansas. (No offense to Kansans.) His comedic short films have appeared in festivals around the world, including the Fantasia Film Festival in Montreal, the Dallas International Film Festival, and the Slamdance Film Festival where his short, "No Other Way To Say It," won the Jury Prize for Best Narrative Short. His advertising work has been featured in AdWeek and Creativity Online, and he has won two Gold Lions from the Cannes Festival of Creativity. Tim co-created the Showtime Series, "Work In Progress," and is an alumnus of the Second City Mainstage. Snippets of his life can be seen on his Instagram, @timothyedwardmason